

RUSH EFFORT TO RAISE SUNKEN SUB PRESENT AIR SERVICE SCORED

SEPARATE AIR CORPS ADVOCATED BY YOUNG OFFICERS IN PROBE

Pilots Agree With Patrick
Aviators Must Have Charge

Washington, Sept. 28.—Sharp criticism of the present air service of the United States was voiced to the president's air board today by a number of young officers who actually fly the airplanes.

The pilots frankly and freely took issue with their superior officers and demanded an immediate change in the air organization.

The ice was broken by Major G. W. G. Kilner, executive officer of the army air service, who completely endorsed the plan of Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of air service for creation of a separate air corps to "put aviation on its feet."

"Under existing organization, aviation can never reach maximum efficiency," Kilner charged. This was a direct contradiction of testimony by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Acting Secretary of War Davis, who last week assured the board the air arms were functioning smoothly and efficiently.

"Aviation is not going any where now and it never will unless the air service is turned over to flying men," said Kilner. Kilner declared that "there is acute dissatisfaction" among pilots over the existing management of the air force.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The men who actually fly the nation's airplanes went before the president's air board today with a batch of suggestions and recommendations for improving the army and navy air services.

The opinions on aviation of these young pilots, which Secretary of the Navy Wilbur told the board only last week were based on complete misunderstanding, clashed with the views expressed by war navy chiefs.

Whereas Wilbur and Acting Secretary of War Davis admonished the country not to be "panicky" over aviation, for it was being administered well and efficiently under present hands, the flyers agreed that some important changes were necessary if American aviation would keep pace with the rest of the world.

Most of the flyers agreed with Major General Mason H. Patrick, chief of army air service, that establishment of a separate air corps would be the prompt solution of the country's present aviation ills. All of them would not go as far as Colonel William Mitchell, center of the present air row, in insisting upon immediate creation of an independent air ministry in the cabinet, completely divorced from the army and navy.

It was the general view of the pilots that changes in the existing system should be made gradually, step by step, rather than by a drastic shakeup at once that might retard development. This, too, was the opinion of Patrick.

The board announced that the entire week would be given over to examining the pilots, Mitchell, Commander John Rodgers, chief of the P-9 flight, Captain George Steele, commander of the dirigible Los Angeles, and about thirty of the country's best flyers are to be heard.

With pilots testimony in, the investigators again will hear army and navy chiefs and then turn almost exclusively to commercial aviation. The board hopes to conclude open sessions within three weeks, so that ample time will be had to submit a report to President Coolidge late in November.

VETERAN CLAIMS THE CORN CUTTING TITLE

Cardington, O., Sept. 28.—After being informed of the challenge of A. R. James of Meeker and his record of cutting fifty shocks of corn per day at the age of 63, F. M. Curl of Cardington, declared that although he did not accept the challenge he wanted it known that Morrow County had some corn cutters who could cut with the best.

Curl has been cutting his fifty shocks a day at the age of 72 years—nine years older than James.

Furthermore, Curl walks 3 1/2 miles to his farm and rides home with the satisfaction of having done a day's work.

REFUTES HEINEN'S CHARGES IN PROBE OF SHENANDOAH DIRIGIBLE DISASTER

"War Casualty"

PRINCE HENRY

Theoretically, Prince Henry, third son of the King of England, was "killed in action" in the mimic war now being waged in Wiltshire, Eng. "You wouldn't think the old bean was dead at all," remarked a fellow officer as he watched the royal casualty engage a plate of ham and eggs after his "death."

AMERICANS ARE MOST CARELESS PEOPLE IN WORLD SAYS JURIST

Safety Council Opens In Cleveland With Series Of Talks

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—The American people are the most careless in the world, Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the American National Red Cross, told the fourteenth annual convention of the National Safety Council which opened here today.

"Americans may even be called reckless," Judge Payne said. "There are more people killed and injured in the U. S. than any other country in the world, as a result of carelessness and recklessness."

"In this country the fatalities are 76.3 per 100,000 yearly while in Great Britain they are only 33.6, much less than one half."

Rear Admiral William S. Sims, of the United States navy, spoke temporarily on safety and "the nation."

Other speakers of national prominence during the day were:

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company, Cleveland; Captain A. A. Nicholson, head of the Texas Company, (Fort Arthur, Tex.); Walt S. Goodwin, Newark, N. J.; Howard Conley president of the Walworth Manufacturing Company, Boston, and Dr. Frederick Ritzmann, of Geneva, Switzerland, who spoke on "accident prevention activities of the nations."

As safety experts from all over the country and from many foreign countries registered this morning, it was announced that about 5,000 were on hand to take part in the sessions.

Exhibits of safety devices were on display. Whistles and bells cut loose at 10 a. m. when the congress officially opened with City Manager Hopkins speech of welcome.

The National Civilian Rehabilitation Conference and the Industrial Nursing Section of the National organization for public health nursing will take part with the council during the five days.

NEGRO KILLED

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 28.—During an argument over money yesterday, Jesse Mitchell, negro, was shot and killed by James Van Hook, negro. Five shots were fired, four which struck Mitchell. Van Hook was arrested and admitted the shooting but said he did it in self defense and beat Mitchell to the draw.

Change of Valve System Not Responsible Construction Officer Says—Scene of Probe Will Be Moved To Washington.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 28.—Lieutenant Roland G. Mayer, construction officer aboard the ill-fated Shenandoah, today refuted decisively the charge of Anton Heinen, German dirigible expert, that the reduction in the valve system aboard the Shenandoah caused her destruction.

Mayer, testifying before the naval board of inquiry, investigating the cause of the disaster declared the valve changes were made to save weight and "it was known to us that the changes were not detrimental to the operation of the ship."

"The change was considered since the ship was first commissioned," Mayer said.

Mayer said the bureau of aeronautics wrote a letter to the Shenandoah personnel recording "the rate of use we could safely attain without the use of maneuvering valves." During this rate of rise, there were still the automatic valves to fall back on, Mayer said.

The witness said this new arrangement of valves involving the "man-fold system" was not used in Germany.

"When it was suggested for the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles," Mayer said, "the German expert objected—but only for weight reasons. The Los Angeles was originally equipped for hydrogen instead of helium."

Mayer said he had not heard of any criticisms from the designers of the Shenandoah at the time the valves system was changed.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 28.—Transfer of the special court of inquiry into the Shenandoah disaster to Washington the latter part of this week or the early part of next was predicted today by a member of the court.

First the testimony of all survivors and all investigation which must be conducted at the naval air station will be completed. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has not been asked to modify the order calling the court, to permit its transfer to Washington but this action probably will be taken by the court in a few days, the members said.

PRIVATE DISCUSSIONS OVER SUNDAY AID EFFORT TOWARD FRENCH DEBT AGREEMENT

Negotiations More Confident As Official Meeting Resumed—Caillaux Is Proving Himself Shrewd Bargainer So Far.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Franco-American debt negotiations came back to the big mahogany table in the treasury council room today after a week end spent by the negotiators in gingerly edging closer to an agreement. There is still a wide gap between what the French want and what the Americans believe France can and should pay, but progress was made over Sunday in the private discussions between Joseph Caillaux and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the two commissions came together this morning with confidence undiminished that the business will be concluded this week.

M. Caillaux is proving the shrewd bargainer that Americans expect. Across various dining tables in the last 48 hours, the French finance minister has stressed with great fervor his country's impoverishment and unenviable fiscal situation. Some of it had been conceded by Mr. Mellon and a great deal of it has not.

The eloquence with which M. Caillaux has pleaded his cause in these informal negotiations has all been preparatory to the joint session this morning, in which it was expected that he would regrettably explain his inability to accept the terms proposed by Mr. Mellon on Friday. Those terms were approximately the same as those on which Great Britain and half a dozen other nations have settled their indebtedness to the United States.

But M. Caillaux's position was not one of absolute rejection of the American proposition. Far from it. Rather it was what the diplomats glibly call "an acceptance in principle" which means that the idea is all right, but the details all wrong. Settlement of a war debt of $4,000,000,000 is principally details.

M. Caillaux was prepared to point out just where the British style garment would be too large for the French waist and bunch on the French shoulders. He was prepared to propose certain and very material modifications in the American offer in the letter of annual payments and the rate of interest.

The original French proposal was to pay $25,000,000 the first year and gradually increase the payments to a maximum of $90,000,000 a year during the latter part of the 62 year period of payment, the whole to bear an interest rate slightly under two per cent.

Mr. Mellon came back with a proposal that France should begin paying a much larger sum annually, and gradually increase the payments so that over the 62 year period they would approximate $150,000,000 annually, the whole to bear interest at a rate approximating three per cent. Mr. Mellon went further than merely giving the figures. He showed by hard, cold statistics wherein France could get the money and carry the agreement along.

Today's joint session of the two commissions began soon after ten o'clock. It was preceded by a separate meeting of the French delegation in which final points in M. Caillaux's counter proposal were gone over and approved.

The joint session lasted less than half an hour. Then the French emerged and left the treasury.

M. Caillaux, looking unusually grim, declined to answer any questions and hurried to the embassy, accompanied by his colleagues.

The Americans remained in session.

AGED MAN SHOTS HIMSELF SUNDAY

Cincinnati, Sept. 28.—During the absence of his nurse, Nelson W. Thayer, 78, went to the bathroom in his home in Norwood yesterday and shot himself through the right temple. He was found by members of his family who heard the shots.

Thayer for the last three years, had been suffering from a mental disease. He leaves his widow and three sons.

Because his wife left him several weeks ago, Jean Newhouse, 36, attempted suicide by poison last night. Neighbors heard his groans and summoned the police. He was taken to the general hospital. His condition is serious.

DANCERS ESCAPE AS PAVILION BURNS

Youngstown, O., Sept. 28.—While the dance was in full swing at the Southern Park dance pavilion, several couples suddenly discovered smoke sweeping through the floor. They gave the alarm and nearly eighty couples and the orchestra made a hurried exit just before flames enveloped the structure. The loss was estimated at about $20,000. It is believed some shiek threw a cigarette away near the building, setting fire to grass. The fire then crept under the pavilion.

RECOMMENDS TOTAL ABOLITION OF 30 EXISTING FEDERAL BUREAUS

Washington, Sept. 28.—Total abolition of some thirty of existing government bureaus and commissions, none of which are now identified with regular departments, was recommended to President Coolidge today by Senator Curtis, Republican of Kansas, majority leader of the senate.

Curtis said a proper reorganization of business in Washington would abolish these federal trade commission and put its functions in the department of justice would cut the tariff commission to three members and with the abolition of some three score independent offices, would effect an annual saving of $200,000,000.

GIANT CRANE BEING USED IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE ENTOMBED MEN

Hope For Safety of Sailors Not Given Up By Rescuers

New London, Conn., Sept. 28.—For the first time since the S-51 was rammed and sunk Friday night, the full lifting force of 300 tons, necessary to raise her was applied today.

The giant crane ship Monarch arriving off the lee of Block Island before dawn was ordered to proceed to the site of the rescue work and was expected to start operations by nine o'clock.

The arrival of the Monarch, with probably the most powerful floating crane on the Atlantic seaboard, to add its mighty tug to the strength of the Century, which can lift 100 tons, gave the rescue workers high hopes that the submarine, if there was life aboard, could be brought to the surface before nightfall.

It was realized that if there are living men to be saved the action must be immediate, as tonight will complete the third day since the ship sunk.

Lieutenant Commander Flanigan, executive officer in charge of the naval base here said that unless the two compartments were flooded, a lift of 250 tons would be sufficient to raise the submarine. If the two compartments are flooded, however, it would be necessary to use pontoons to raise the ship. This would be a slow and difficult process, the officer said. However, if this was necessary because of the flooded submarine, the chance of life aboard her was remote. It would mean that the men were drowned as the submarine dived.

The two big derricks' crews would be able to raise the submarine at the rate of a foot a minute, it was estimated and she lies in 127 feet of water.

The fact that no tapping has been heard for sure does not end hope of the rescue of the men, according to Lieutenant Commander Flanigan. The walls of the S-51 are double plating and it would be extremely difficult, he pointed out, to hear the men inside, even if they kept up a steady tapping on the walls of the prison. Lieut. J. D. Muir, commanding officer on duty at the station early today said that he had no knowledge that tapping had been heard and that the official record had taken no notice of such reports.

Had there been any encouraging sound heard, in justice to the families of the men, some official cognizance of it would have been taken, Lieut. Muir said.

The feeling of fading hope which overhung the naval base here was reflected in official circles by the fact that but two messages were received from Admiral Christy yesterday, although he stubbornly clung to the belief that life might still exist in the sunken craft. The buddies of the men who went down with the S-51 felt hope giving away to fear when Sunday's efforts brought no certain word of a tapped answer to the tread of the lead soled divers' shoes on the shell of the submarine.

Two of the greatest divers in the world—W. F. Houghman from the naval base at Iona Island and Clarence L. Tibbals, of Pittsburgh, were the team leading the undersea workers responsible for fixing the sling under the submarine's stern and making the lines ready for the lift. These were the divers who directed the work of bringing the luckless P-4 to the surface when she sank off Honolulu in 1915. The sympathy of the entire naval base goes out to the "homes of mourning" where wait the wives of the men of the S-51.

At her home, Mrs. Goldie May Dobson, wife of the young commander of the S-51, denied herself to all callers, her father maintaining a watch at the door that she might not be disturbed. But every ring of the telephone found her alert. At another home there are two of the anxiously waiting women folk—Mrs. F. Burke and Mrs. Walter E. Lawton. In the same house is the wife of Yeoman Farley, a member of the S-51's crew, spared to her because he did not make the trip.

Mrs. J. L. Gibson, another of those waiting for word of a husband, is a bride of a few months. He is but 22 years of age.

While the vigil in these houses of doubt dragged on to the third day the naval post and many others waited here for word and impatiently looked forward to the news that the Monarch was at work. At ten o'clock this morning a report that the S-51 had been raised and two men found alive created a sensation and flooded the submarine base headquarters here with inquiries. An investigation by Lieut. Commander Flanigan, in charge of the base, proved the report false.

Rear Admiral H. H. Christy, in charge of rescue operations at the scene of the wreck, is radiating all developments to Washington and the messages are picked up here and at Newport.

Inquiries at Newport showed no message had been sent by Admiral Christy.

Little Red Riding Hood Dies

GIRL VICTIM OF BEAR

A cunning brown baby bear, in the family home at Otisville, N. Y., suddenly turned on his mistress, Dorothy Craig, shown in the center, and, sinking his teeth in her neck when she thought he was about to play, killed her as her father looked on. The bear was killed later.

YES, EMMA HAS CHANGED! London, Sept. 28.—Emma Gold- man is gradually bowing to con- vention.

Like Queen Elizabeth of Belgium she has been unable to resist the onward tide of short-haired fashions and Emma has had her hair shingled.

Emma made her debut with shingled hair at a first night performance in a west end theatre and gave the first nighters something to talk of. Her attendance at a first night is indication enough that the Emma of today is not the fire-eating Emma of old.

ACCIDENTS CAUSE TWELVE DEATHS

Cleveland, Sept. 28.—As leaders in safety work throughout the world gathered in Cleveland today for the fourteenth annual convention of the organization interested in conserving human life, news reports told of 12 deaths in northeastern Ohio week end traffic accidents.

Two men were killed in Grafton, two women pedestrians were struck by an alleged speeding autoist in Morain and killed; five met death in the vicinity of Youngstown; Gwendolyn Dadds, of Cleveland last survivor of four whose automobile was struck by a fast train at "Death Crossing" Painesville succumbed to her injuries. A pedestrian was struck and killed by a passing motorist at Hudson and in Cleveland Louis Tokesky whose car collided with another automobile and a street car, was dead in a hospital.

PAIR KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Elyria, O., Sept. 28.—The bodies of Charles Halloran, 35 and Tom Wilkinson, 40, both of Cleveland, were shipped home today.

The men were killed last night when they failed to heed a stop warning and their automobile was struck by a fast Big Four passenger train near Grafton.

The auto was carried for half a mile on the engine. The bodies were horribly mangled. The train was compelled to back up to Eaton to remove parts of the machine from the engine, trucks.

The bodies of the victims were brought here.

URGES CONTINUANCE OF FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS AS AT PRESENT

Suggests Congress Liber- alize Law at Bankers' Meeting

Atlantic City, N. J. Sept. 28.—A plea that the federal reserve bank system be continued "substantially in its present basic form" and that congress should liberalize the law so as to enable national banks "to keep step with progress," was urged here today before the fifty first annual convention of the American Bankers Association by Edgar L. Mattson of Minnesota.

Mattson referred to the federal reserve system as the most scientific banking system yet devised.

The Minnesota banker said he believed that if the next congress will heed the "evident demand" for reduction of high tax rates, the nation would progress "under sound lines."

A. F. Dawson, of Davenport, Iowa, substantiated Mattson's argument on the banks and said that the only fault was lack of liberalization of the law. Because of the limitations on first mortgage loans he said hundreds of banks have surrendered their national charters for state ones, carrying with them almost one tenth of the total assets of the entire national banking system.

FINDLAY CITIZENS BOOST NEW HIGHWAY

Findlay, O., Sept. 28.—Findlay citizens, 125 strong, will leave tomorrow morning on a motor trip to Peoria, Illinois, in the interest of the proposed William Penn highway. The boosters will hold meetings in cities along the way. Tuesday night they will be at Peru, Indiana.

National President Colonel Ralph D. Cole and National Secretary John H. Schaeffer, both of the William Penn Highway association, will accompany the Findlay caravan. State officials of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, will also be present.

The proposed William Penn highway is to be the most direct motor route between Atlantic City and San Francisco.

MONUMENTS THAT MEN BUILD FINAL SUBJECT OF DEPARTING MINISTER AT UNION SERVICE

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit, who resigned the pastorate of the Second U. P. church to accept a call to the First U. P. Church, Cambridge, O., delivered his closing sermon at a union service of Xenia churches at the Second U. P. auditorium, Sunday night.

The auditorium and lecture room of the church were filled with the congregation, representing churches over the county and vicinity. Each of the Xenia pastors took part in the program.

Dr. Proudfit prefaced his sermon with the statement that he "spent so much of the past week feasting on Greene County chicken that his mind had undergone a fast and he was forced to draw his sermon from his 'sermon barrel'—on which many of his auditors had heard him preach on former occasions."

His topic was "Three Monuments." "The first monument is the one we build to ourselves," he said. "The second is the one the world builds for us and the third is the one God builds for us."

"Ancient kings of Babylon, Assyria and Egypt reared in several ways of perpetuating their memory. Tablets, monuments and temples were favorite methods of attempting to make themselves live forever."

"Absalom, with dastardly audacity, attempted to steal away the kingdom from his father. He had no son to keep his name in remembrance. In lieu of a new limb to the family tree he went out into the beautiful valley of Kidron and built for himself a pillar to keep his name in remembrance. His conceit imagined an impoverished world if he failed in building for himself a monument."

"Judged by the contemporary history, the monument was probably covered with tributes to himself. It probably told the world of his military exploits and statescraft. It would be unlike the memorials of Ashurbanipal of Assyria which he himself erected unless it was covered with self-praise. "I stood a time ago in a town which had as one of its show places a beautiful bank building far beyond the market to which it catered. It was economically a waste. But it had been erected by the president of the bank as his monument."

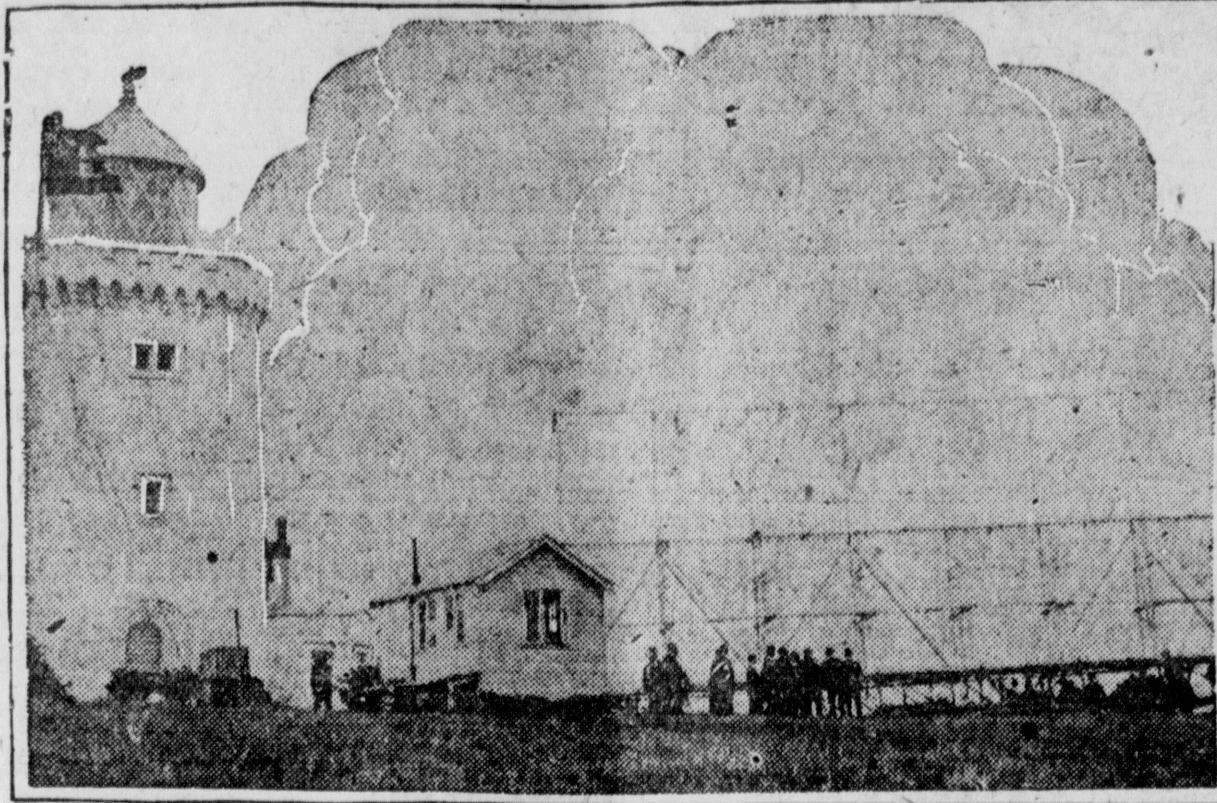

"In a certain county of a nearby state, two men died. One left $40,000 to build for himself a quartette of monuments, one at each corner of his grave. The other man left an estate of almost identical size but left the attention to our own opinion of ourselves and secondary attention to the esteem of our peers. But it does attach outstanding importance to the motives that underlie the erection of memorials to ourselves.

Prayers may not seem to be answered but they are constructing in Heaven a permanent memorial to our faith. Alms may be disappointing to the giver but if given in Jesus' name they are precious stones, out of which the angels make eternal monuments.

Supremely happy that builder who can look upon 'living stones' being built by his spiritual handiwork into a spiritual house and 'acceptable unto God through Jesus Christ.'

Dr. Proudfit has served as president of the Xenia Ministerial Association and Dr. F. W. Satton of the First M. E. Church, vice president of the organization, presided. Dr. Stanton gave a short talk on behalf of the association and expressed the community's regret in losing Dr. Proudfit.

The Rev. David A. Sellers, pastor of the First Reformed Church, pronounced the invocation. The Rev. W. H. Tilford, First Presbyterian Church, led in opening prayer. The Rev. J. P. Lytle, First U. P. Church, led in responsive reading and the Rev. R. E. Brown, First Baptist Church, gave the Scripture reading. The Rev. V. F. Brown, Trinity M. E. Church, led in the closing prayer and the Rev. A. J. Furstenberger pronounced the offering prayer.

REV. V. F. BROWN TO HEAD MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION HERE

The Rev. V. F. Brown, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, was elected president of the Xenia Ministerial Association at the re-organization meeting of the body at the Second U. P. Church, Monday morning. He takes the place of the Rev. C. P. Proudfit, who has resigned the pastorate of the Second U. P. Church to go to Cambridge, Ohio.

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, of the First Presbyterian Church, was elected vice-president and the Rev. J. P. Lytle, First U. P., was elected secretary-treasurer. The elections were made according to the seniority rule, Dr. Brown holding the longest pastorate in Xenia, following Dr. Proudfit.

A special meeting will be held by the association next Monday morning at the First Presbyterian Church when a campaign in Sunday School work will be considered.

Dr. Proudfit visited the meeting and said "good-by" to the members.

H. B. HOLE DIES AT VERSAILLES SUNDAY

H. B. Hole, 60, largest individual poultry and egg merchant in the United States, with a branch agency in Xenia, died at his home in Versailles, O., Sunday night at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Hole was the head of a poultry produce distributing company with branches over the state. He is said to have made a large fortune in the business.

He leaves his widow, five sons and two daughters: Robert, Homer, Harvey, Edward and Richard; Mrs.

Dorothy Frankman, Detroit, Mich., and Miss Mildred Hole, at home. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home in Versailles.

TENTATIVE RATES FOR TAX DISTRICTS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

The Greene County Budget Commission gave its approval of the tentative tax rates for 1925 set by County Auditor R. O. Wead for the fifty-four taxing districts in the county, at its meeting Monday morning.

The commission is composed of Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall, president; Auditor Wead, secretary, and County Treasurer F. A. Jackson.

The commission directed Auditor Wead to submit the rates to the state tax commission at Columbus for final approval of that body. The state commission will pass on the rates and make any changes necessary to keep the figures within all limitations.

Approval by the state commission will mean that Xenia city's tax rate for 1925 per $1,000 property valuation will be $25, a reduction of twenty cents from last year.

FOUR INJURED WHEN AUTO STRIKES POLE ON PIKE SATURDAY

Four Belmont motorists were injured, none seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding smashed into a telephone pole on the Xenia and Dayton Pike one mile west of Xenia Saturday night.

The party, which included George Snurr, Clyde Engle and Jesse and Clarence Folkerth, all of Belmont, was returning to Dayton after a visit with friends in Xenia. The accident occurred when Clarence Folkerth, driver of the car, endeavored to pass another machine.

As he turned his car from the center of the road, Folkerth noticed a second machine approaching from the opposite direction and in trying to apply the brakes accidentally stepped on the accelerator. The auto shot across the road and crashed into a pole.

All occupants of the car were cut and bruised but were able to continue to their homes where their injuries were treated. The automobile was wrecked.

Overruling a motion for a new trial, Judge S. C. Wright, imposed a fine of $100 and costs upon Pete Pratt, this city, following his recent conviction on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, in Probate Court Saturday.

A chemical analysis taken of the liquor said to have been found on Pratt by the arresting officers, showed it to contain more than the legal one half of one per cent alcohol, it is announced.

BELIEVE DAYTONIAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

George Rugman, Fairfield Pike, is in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, in a critical condition as a result of injuries received in an automobile collision on the Dayton and Xenia pike, nine miles from Xenia about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

Physicians at the hospital declared Rugman is suffering from a fractured skull and little hope is held for his recovery. He has been unconscious since the accident.

The accident occurred when a Chevrolet touring car occupied by six Antioch College students is said to have side-swiped a Ford coupe driven by Rugman and occupied by H. C. Layman.

Both automobiles careened into a ditch and the Rugman machine overturned three times. Layman sustained cuts and bruises but was not seriously hurt.

The Chevrolet occupied by Edward Beckwith, Lyman Heddon and William Lost and three girls, was damaged but its occupants escaped with minor injuries.

Rugman was immediately rushed to Miami Valley Hospital and remains in a critical condition.

PLEADS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL IN SERMON AT LOCAL CHURCH

Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, delivered an inspiring sermon Sunday morning on the subject, "The King's Program in Sunday School Work." He made a strong appeal to all classes to take up the challenge of the Sunday School.

"The Sunday School," he said, "is not an institution for boys and girls only, but big enough to command the attention of big business men like John Wannamaker. Educators, statesmen, merchants, school teachers, work hard all week and then teach or superintend in Sunday Schools on Sunday."

"There are 27,000,000 boys and girls of a Sunday School age in the United States out of Sunday School. The Methodist Episcopal Church is responsible for six and one-half million of these. If all of these should turn out to Sunday School one Sunday, it would take 400,000 teachers additional to take care of them. We haven't the trained teachers to supply that number. Only fifteen per cent of teachers are trained for their work."

"Next Sunday will be Rally Day in our church. It ought to command the attention of all our membership for three reasons: first, because the Sunday School is an essential element in the future development of the church; second, because the church needs to be awakened to the great need and opportunity of the Sunday School; third, because every other cause has special days, why not a special day for Sunday School?"

"We appeal to the businessmen of Xenia, the professional men, and the club men, to consider the Sunday School big enough to challenge the best in them. The child life of Xenia appeals to the best brains and deepest consecration of all Christian men and women," he declared.

QUIET ELECTION IN WISCONSIN IS SEEN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28 — Prospects today were that tomorrow's election in Wisconsin would be an exceedingly quiet affair. Observant politicians estimated that the vote would not exceed, if, in fact, it equals the vote polled at the primary—350,000. It was pretty generally conceded that the election of Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., as United States senator, is a certainty.

There has been practically no betting on the election.

TRADE IN XENIA

If progress is to prevail and commerce be restrained from crumbling into ruins, then must co-operative action among the citizens of any community be exerted in the proper channels.

No community can survive the suicide of dormant interest in the community welfare. Which is another way of saying that unless the practice of mutual understanding, help and encouragement breathes in the spirit of a municipality, the dreams of pioneers will have been shattered, the advantages of community life disintegrate and the march of progress leave that community to bleach its bones along the unbeaten paths.

Lethargy in matters of civic interest will murder the spark of progress in any community. On the other hand a communion of co-operation, a deepening of civic interest and a concerted action toward the goal of progress will foster that spark and make any municipality into an attractive place to live and do business, regardless of population.

Trading in Xenia is one means of further community progress. It is the first rule of the program that spells success. The interchange of commerce is vital to the life of Xenia as well as any other community and the citizen who makes his living here and spends his money some place else is sapping at that community's life blood.

Xenia merchants, backed by the integrity of long and honorable business careers, are deserving of this patronage, because they are the representatives of the commerce that holds the community together. If there is no commercial exchange there is no progress, business life or city.

They are entitled at least to the opportunity to serve you and if your patronage is loyal, their success will be the stepping stone to your city's future goal. Denied this chance, progress will be slaughtered and opportunity will have turned away from the door.

Thus "Trade in Xenia" is the key that will open to Xenians a bigger and better community with the material advantages and benefits such a community would offer.

NEW REDWOODS FOR OLD.

In spending much time and money planting seedlings of the giant redwood trees in California the lumbermen of today are putting into practice the theory that the best conservation policy provides for the future. Despite the terribly destructive inroads on the redwood forests made during the last half century by their predecessors, the campaign to save the remaining areas from destruction has met with a good measure of success, and experience has shown that reforestation is practicable. The redwood is one of the fastest growing conifers, and once the seedling is firmly rooted it appears to withstand all enemies but man. To be sure, it requires from four hundred to a thousand years for it to reach full maturity. But even at the age of thirty or forty years it is a large tree, sometimes reaching a height of 100 feet.

How the difficult task of obtaining the rare seeds of the redwood and of planting and transplanting them has been accomplished is fully described in the September number of Nature Magazine by Wallace Hutchinson of the Forest Service. The redwood, he points out, is notorious for the high percentage of infertility of its seeds, with the result that it is necessary to scour the forest in order to obtain good seeds even in comparatively small quantities. When planted under favorable auspices in nurseries they grow readily. Great care is needed, however, in transplanting them. This work is carried on by experts after the rainy season begins and is confined to regions where the redwood formerly grew. During the last two planting seasons about 3,800 acres of cut-over redwood land have been restocked, and it is expected this year to replant 6,000 acres more. The principal nursery has more than 1,500,000 seedlings and is now well enough established to assure the continuation of this planting program until all the cut-over lands are served.

EARTHWORMS.

It is not man who has made of this earth a flowering paradise.

It is the earthworm.
Man enjoys what he has not provided, reaps where he has not sown.

Vegetation is what makes human life possible. Plants consume the nitrogen of the air, leaving the oxygen for man, replenishing the store of it for him.

But never could vegetation have survived upon the earth's crust if the earthworm had not been here, burrowing the ground, softening it, aerating it, enriching it. In an acre of soil, ten tons of earth are disturbed by earthworms in a year.

What a wonderful function it performs.
But it is pleasanter to be a human being than to be an earthworm.

We know the world at large, not the small compass of a few square feet.

Let us be assured of one thing. We are here for a purpose just as definite as that of the earthworm. It blindly follows instinct. We have been given minds, souls and awarded a choice and careers.

The responsibility increases with the additional gifts.
We are not earthworms.

We have no right to accomplish less in proportion than they do. How many of us are accomplishing any more?

Just Folks

BY EDWARD A. GUEST

HE IS MY FRIEND
He is my friend. Therefore he cannot do
One deed that's false or shameful or untrue.
He is my friend. In him I turn to see
All that I wish I had the grace to be.
I know myself, how weak I am and frail!
But he who is my friend will never fail.
Malice for him no tangling web can weave,
Or gossip spread a slander I'd believe.
He is my friend, all tender, brave and wise,
Within my mind no doubt of him can rise.
Others may lie, play false and cheat for gain,
He is my friend. On him there is no stain.
He has my trust, through every mood and whim,
No whispering tongue can shake my faith in him.
Unto this obligation there's no end.
It is no easy task to be a friend.

Today's Talks

"KEEP APLUGGIN' AWAY!"

The one who emphasized the title of this Talk in a most appealing way was a negro, born of slave parents. His name was Paul Lawrence Dunbar.

Many of you have read this poem. The other evening it was read over the radio, and I stopped my typewriter to listen to it. What a simple philosophy. What wisdom, after all, I thought.

Just "Keep apluggin' away!" Underneath the glass on my work desk is a little sentence: "The dog barks, but the caravan passes on." It's that way with all important things. If you go right on, you are going to arrive, especially if you have determined and definitely decided just where you want to arrive.

The trouble with most people is that they have no special time or place in their minds as an objective. If they do they want to get there either by a shorter route than the ordinary one proposed, or they want to eliminate the necessary pains and labor.

The "Get-rich-quick" artists line the main thoroughfares and sideways of life. But it is the Edisons, the Lincolns, the Websters, the "Stone-wall" Jacksons, and the George Westinghouses that dot our national and world fabric and make it durable.

We all learned in our mathematics that "the shortest distance between two points is a straight line."

And yet there are those who want to short-cut that straight line! Never mind. Saw away. And "Keep apluggin'!"

COUNTY WILL NOT BE PROUD; WILL ACCEPT OFFER FROM BRAND

Should Congressman Charles Brand of Urbana give Greene County an opportunity to accept a $500 donation from his salary increase which he has refused to accept, toward the purchase of a stone crusher for use on county roads, the offer will be gladly accepted, it is announced by Herman Eavey, president of the Commissioners.

Congress at its last session, appropriated money for the increase in salary of congressmen but Brand declined the salary boost and announced his extra money would be offered to the various counties composing the seventh congressional district toward the purchase of stone crushers. So far three counties have taken advantage of the offer.

"Greene County needs a stone crusher badly," said President Eavey, "and we will most certainly avail ourselves of any such offer made."

"A standard type of crusher would cost between $1,500 and $2,000 and a donation of $500 would place the board in a position to purchase such a needed addition to the county road outfit."

TO GIVE CONCERT

RALPH THOMAS

An interesting concert is planned by Ralph Thomas, tenor, former Xenian assisted by Charles Ridgway at the piano, for Thursday, October 8, at 8:20 p. m. at Memorial Hall, Dayton.

Mr. Thomas will sing numbers by Donjonetti, Lehman, Lalo, Cox, Bizet, Yardier, Boa, Frimal, Millard, Camille, Mousorgsky, Vitale, the late Campbell-Tipton, Edvard, Cabel-la, and Charles Ridgway.

The singer's rendition of the Campbell Tipton numbers so pleased the composer that shortly before his death he wrote Mr. Thomas a letter, complimenting him on his soulful expression.

He will also sing for the first time in America Edvard Cabel-la's "Heavy on's Reality." In this song he has one of the most beautiful compositions and brilliant accompaniments that a Master musician might produce. Cabel-la, an elderly Maestro of Italy, has been a majestic director of the Russian Symphony Orchestra in Petrograd, also opera coach of famous singers.

Mr. Thomas has been soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under Ysaye and the Russian Orchestra.

BRADFUTE TO SPEAK BEFORE KIWANIS AT MEETING TUESDAY

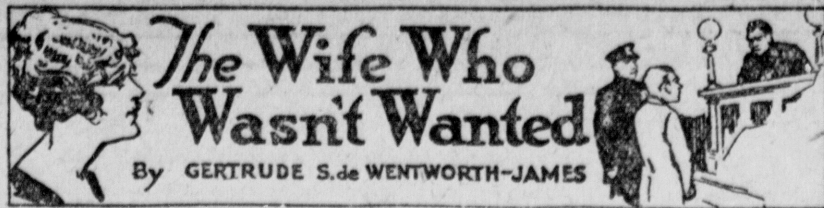

O. E. Bradfute, this city, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who is stationed in Chicago at the national headquarters will be the speaker at the Xenia Kiwanis Club, next Tuesday evening, when the club celebrates "Farmer's Night."

Committee Two of the club is in charge of the program and has issued a club bulletin "The Mortar" announcing the evening's program. The bulletin is called "The Mortar" according to the committee members because Kiwanis, with a motto of "We Build," needs something to make them stick together.

The meeting will open at 6 o'clock. Every member of the club will have about his person something to identify him as a farmer. He can dress as such or have some gain and other farm "emblems" to convince the judge at the door that he is a farmer. If any one fails to have some badge or identification as a farmer, he will be made to do some "stunt" or pay a forfeit. Sheriff Morris Sharp will be present to carry out the order.

WANT GERMAN TAUGHT

Mansfield, O., Sept. 28.—Claiming that there are 4,000 German speaking people in Mansfield, a committee of three Germans called on the city board of education with the request that the German language be again taught in the local schools. Charles Seybold, former school board member, headed the committee. The board listened to the plea but took no action. It was understood, however, that some action on the petition might be taken the last half of the present school year.

SYNOPSIS

"Blitz" Jennings, political ward heeler, has just telephoned Jerome Wallace, candidate for District Attorney, to tell him that the results of a canvass, published by the Star that morning, show that District Attorney John Manning is almost certain of re-election. Wallace declares he is paying Jennings to "do the worrying" and bids him "get busy." It is the twenty-first birthday of Bob, John Manning's son, and a dance is being given tonight at the country club.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Regardless of such fears, the Westmore Country Club had, socially speaking, completely outdone itself, tonight, setting in Bob Manning's birthday party a new standard. But general excellence may not be exceeded without special effort. So far as expense was concerned, John Manning had been liberal itself. And for days, Eileen had not only busied herself with the list of guests, but had been in frequent conference with different members of the Club's staff. Now, all this effort had been rewarded. It had been a wonderful evening for Bob's young friends. An evening of superlative delight ending with a dance which was a perfect riot of unrestrained joyousness.

Wearied, by their strenuous activities, the members of the orchestra were putting away their instruments. Quieted was the melodious moan of the saxophones, stilled the sharp staccato of the banjo and jazz, king jazz, had ceased to echo over the polished dancing floor.

But in its pursuit of pleasure, youth never wearies. Orchestras may tire, patronesses grow heavy eyed and attendants fall asleep at their posts, yet youth is indefatigable. Midnight merely heralds the dawn of a new day, of fresh opportunity for enjoyment. In the face of the departing orchestra, a group of Bob Manning's youthful guests lingered wistfully upon the porch of the club house as if fearing to depart, lest, by chance, they would overlook some final crumb of the banquet of pleasure spread for their enjoyment that evening.

To them came Bob, fairly radiant with excitement and happiness.

"Good night, good bye," he cried, but in his eyes lurked another message: "Stay, why go?"

"Good night—good bye," they answered, and in their faces too was written another message: "We don't want to go—give us but an excuse and we will stay."

Even as they waited with vague longings, there burst upon them temptation in the person of Diane Bledsoe. Alert, high strung and vivacious, she paused in the doorway of the club house clinging to the arm of Theo Saturn and her gay, careless laugh was like the song of a siren as she gazed at the waiting group without.

"What, going home?" she cried as if marveling that such folly were possible.

"The party is over, what else is there to do?" answered Molly Pierce, a demure little maid to whom Diane's gaiety and spirit was a thing to be emulated. "Aren't you going home?"

Again that laugh of Diane's rang out in the night, provocative, tantalizing in its mysterious promise. "Going home? The very idea." She shot a glance at Theo who was already laden from want of sleep. "We never go home when there is any place else to go, do we, Theo?"

"Not on your life," he proclaimed opening his eyes very wide indeed in a brave attempt to appear alert and awake. "Din and I just get wide awake about this time of night—hey, Din?"

For this loyal support, he was to be but poorly rewarded. Calmly leaving him in the lurch, Diane made for Bob and slipping her arm through his, gave him a look which proved that regardless of her father's attitude towards the Manning family, her own towards this member, at least, was very kind indeed.

"Come on, Bob, let's finish your party at Calkin's Inn?"

"Calkin's Inn?" he repeated in surprise and it was clear that regardless of Diane's enthusiasm, he did not share it. "Why, it's too late to think of going there, isn't it, Diane?"

"Too late for Calkin's Inn? They don't know the meaning of the word late there," she thrilled. "It's the very best time right now! They are just beginning to get really gay! Come on—Theo will take the whole crowd in his machine. Let's go!"

"Is—is it a nice place?" worried Molly, afflicted with scruples.

"Haven't you been there?" Astonishment at such woeful ignorance may have accounted for Diane's failure to answer the question precisely. "It's wonderful, Molly, a touch of high life to liven you up."

"A slumming party?" Molly was tempted and yielding fast.

"Slumming party! Great Heavens, no, child! We'll dance—dance to real music—music with pep."

"At this time of night?" "They've hardly started—we'll dance until morning."

"Until morning?" Molly's eyes grew big. "But what about my mother, Diane? She'd throw a fit if I stayed out until morning."

"Dearie, surely you have a key?" "Yes, but mother would hear me when I came in."

"Listen, honey," Diane rested a persuasive hand upon the other girl's shoulder. "Mother must not hear. Just be careful. You can get away with murder if you are careful. Why, the other night it was daylight when Theo and I started home from Calkin's, wasn't it, Theo?"

"Sure," responded that worthy sleepily, apparently still suffering from the effects of the trip. "Nobody around but the milkman—the 'H. ole, bright-eyed milkman.'"

"Well," continued Diane, "my mother is a good sort, up to date and not too inquisitive. But I didn't quite dare to drift in with the sun beams. So giving old Theo a snappy farewell, I slid in, shed my slippers and was upstairs in my little bed in a jiffy. 'Diane, what time did you get in last night?' mother asked next day. 'You can search me—it must have been dearful late,' I retorted, giving her the angel eye. 'You see,' Diane went off in a gale of laughter. 'It's easy if you're careful.' With which wisdom, she snuggled closer to Bob and urged him towards Theo's car. 'Come on, nice boy,' she pleaded.

"I guess I won't go tonight, Diane," he said, glancing back over his shoulder as if he felt other eyes upon him.

And, indeed, from just within the palm decorated hall, nothing of this had escaped the sharp eyes and ears of Marjorie, regardless of the fact that she was not alone.

"What are you going to do, Marjorie?" pleaded her companion, regarding her with undisguised admiration.

"Go home, of course, Billy," she retorted with a coldness which would have chilled a less persistent heart.

"With whom?"

Blind was this youth or he must have remarked her wandering gaze and the uncertainty of her answer.

"Er—perhaps with Mrs. Manning," said Marjorie intent upon Diane's words.

Hope leaped in Billy's eyes.

"I've my car here. Can't I take you home, Marjorie?"

Her answer was prompt and plain.

"No, Billy."

"But, Marjorie—"

Both machines were damaged but the occupants of both cars were unhurt. Mr. and Mrs. Wolary and Mr. Slagle were returning from Kenton, O., where they were called Sunday on account of the serious illness of Mr. Slagle's aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Heffelfinger.

PUTTING "WHEELS" ON YOUR STORE WINDOWS

Most merchants feel that their windows are good advertising mediums. They are. Newspaper advertising is like putting wheels under those windows and moving them all about the city.

Merchants believe in repetition in store-window advertising. They do not "try out" one window display and then pull down the curtains forever. They believe in displaying their merchandise DAY AFTER DAY.

The same thought is important in newspaper advertising. Newspaper ads are also "windows" of your store. See that people look into these newspaper windows often.

If a window display does not happen to draw miraculous results, the merchant naturally blames the merchandise—not the wood and glass which make up the physical show.

If newspaper advertisements fail to bring enormous crowds, blame the text of the ad or the kind of merchandise described. The newspaper offers merely transportation or distribution for your ad. What you say in your space is up to you.

Window display advertising is continued all the year around. A merchant does not draw his blinds nor discontinue displays because the weather is warm.

Newspaper advertising, too, should be continuous. The same people are right here, winter or summer, with the same incomes and the same desires to buy.

Window advertising has serious limitations. It reaches only those people who happen to pass the store. Newspaper advertising has NO limitations because everybody reads newspapers.

A merchant who does not use newspaper advertising is passing up a tried and proved method of building sales and prestige.

A SHOPPING GUIDE FOR THE BARGAIN HUNTER

NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY BY MACK SAUER

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

All dressed up in a brand new tie, I kissed my wife a good goodbye; I jumped into the B. and O. and said "Conductor, let her go." I looked around the whole darn car to get a light for my cigar, but everywhere I met a stare that said I had no friendship there and so I piled into a seat and dumped my luggage at my feet.

The coach was full of gloomy jays, who out the windows fixed their gaze, and as we rumbled by mile I didn't even see a smile. My seatmate was a cheerless bird who never even spoke a word; he thrust his elbow in my side; most all the seat he occupied.

As on we sped I watched the scenes and thought of hotel pork and beans, when, Lo! upon a wooded hill I saw a sight that made me thrill,—that caused my gloom and care to skip and furnished pleasure for my trip. A smile went circling round my face and there was sunshine every place. A little country mother stood and did me just a world of good; she lifted up her hand and waved and in that wave the day was saved. Her smile went throbbing through my soul and knocked my worries for a goal and from her waving hand she sent the joy that made me feel content.

Oh, in this world of woe and cares there are too many surly bears, too many folks so full of self, who keep their lives hid on a shelf; too many live for clothes and jewels and only know what's taught in schools. I'd rather be that mother than in gingham dress and platted hair than many women that I know who only live to make a show. Her cup of life I know runs o'er with little kindly acts galore, whose memories are all the pay one can enjoy when old and gray.

Yes, little mother of the hills, you drove away my cares and ills; your waving hand brought out the sun, you cannot know the good you've done. And when I ride the B. and O. I'll look for you each time I go.

The Bayliffs defeated Melvin earlier in the season in a close and interesting game but expect to encounter stronger opposition in the coming contest.

TILTONS START RIGHT BY DEFEATING NORTH DAYTON MERCHANTS SUNDAY IN CLOSE GAME

BY L. J. WONES
The Tiltons' 33 football team of this city opened its season Sunday afternoon at the old Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue, with a win over the North Dayton Merchants by a 13 to 6 score.

The locals presented a heavy and well balanced team but their line was weak in spots and many times the opposition shifted through and nipped the local backs with the ball. It was the shaky line that caused them trouble several times. Both clubs got rather lucky breaks. The "33" eleven was scored upon first when "Atlas" Smith's punt was blocked and Rike grabbed the oval and raced thirty yards for a score. The locals got a break in this period when the Merchants were forced to punt and the kicker was hurried and punted out on the 18 yard line. Boxwell and Smith blocked the ball over and tied the score. There was no more scoring then until the third period when Perrine blocked a punt and Smith took it over on line plunges.

Smith and Boxwell were the best bets for the locals in the backfield. Smith made nice gains off tackle and through center. In all he gained a total of twenty-eight yards and was never thrown for a loss. Boxwell played well and although he was thrown for several losses it was not his fault as his interference at times was terrible. Perrine and Lincoln looked good at the flank positions while Houk and P. Fuller also played well.

Lucky starred for the losers. He was in about every play and when he blocked Smith's punt in the first quarter it was the blocked ball that gave them their score. He was a hard man to gain around. Schaefer, Rietter, Dadds and Graefier also showed up well.

Hanke kicked off to Lincoln who returned the ball to midfield. Stephens made three through center but Smith fumbled and D. Fuller recovered for the locals that netted them a four yard gain. Boxwell and Smith made it first down. The Merchants then held the locals and Smith's punt was blocked but he recovered the ball on the 32. Boxwell lost four yards and Smith again attempted to punt but went blocked and Rike snatched up the pill and raced for a touchdown. Rietter's kick after touchdown was blocked. Hanke again kicked off to Lincoln, who made a nice return. Stephens fumbled and Boxwell recovered for the locals and punted on the next down to Rietter who was nailed on the 24. The "33" bunch held the winners for downs and they were forced to punt but Perrine blocked the kick and fell on the ball. Smith made nine yards off tackle and Boxwell made it first down. Smith then went blocked and Rike snatched up the pill and raced for a two yard gain and touchdown. P. Fuller's drop kick was blocked and the quarter ended with the score tied at six all.

P. Fuller kicked off to Rietter who was downed on the 38. They failed to gain in three plays and Schuster punted to Stephens on the 34. Boxwell made five through the line, D. Fuller made four on a fake line plunge and Smith made it first down. Lucky threw D. Fuller for a four yard loss and a pass was incomplete. Another pass to Stephens missed by inches and Boxwell kicked to Dadds on the 37. O'Hara failed to gain around right end while Boxwell knocked down a pass to Lucky. Rietter then stopped on a left end run. D. Fuller then intercepted Schaefer's pass and was downed on the thirteen. Stephens was thrown for a fifteen yard loss on an attempted forward pass and the half ended.

Hanke kicked off to D. Fuller on the 45 in the third period. The locals were held for downs and Boxwell punted to Rietter who was stopped on the 10. Schaefer then punted outside on the 18. Smith and Boxwell made it first down aided by a five yard offside penalty. Smith made four through center and D. Fuller made one on a cross buck while Boxwell made six yards and scored. A pass, Boxwell to Perrine, gave the locals another point, making the score 13 to 6.

RAIN HALTS FOURTH CITY TITLE GAME

A driving rain earlier in the day Sunday that thoroughly soaked the diamond at Dickinson Park, caused postponement of the fourth game of the city title baseball series between the Merchants and Reserves until next Sunday.

The next championship game will be played at Washington Park diamond next Sunday afternoon, it is announced. Should a fifth game be necessary it will be played at Washington Park.

The Merchants hold the edge on the series with two victories against one defeat and need only one more game to clinch the title. The Reserves, in order to win the championship, must defeat the Merchants two straight games.

Both sides expect to indulge in strenuous practice this week to keep in trim for the title game Sunday.

COLUMBUS TRAFFIC OFFICER HAS HORSE TAMED BY KINDNESS

Columbus, O., Sept. 28.—Visitors to Columbus have often noticed a tall, handsome mounted traffic officer who enforces the law along West Gay Street. The officer's horse has drawn many exclamations of pleasure from lovers of animals.

The horse, an unusually intelligent mount follows the big policeman like a pet dog, when he dismounts to take a hand in some traffic congestion.

When the rider stops to talk with any one, the horse is sure to poke his nose in between his master and the visitor, as if jealous of any attention paid to anybody else.

The proud rider is Officer Fred Kunds of Columbus, but a descendant of the Auld Sod.

His steed bears the name of former Mayor George J. Korb, but to Kunds he is only "George."

"George here can take care of himself no matter how heavy the traffic is," Officer Kunds said. "I have often crossed the street on foot in the heaviest kind of traffic. George would follow right behind."

"You'd scarcely believe that George was an outlaw only about four years ago, would you?" Kunds asked as he petted the horse that never seemed to get enough petting.

"How did you tame him so?"

"Apples and sugar and kindness," Kunds explained. "An apple a day keeps the doctor away, they say. It does more—it keeps bad temper away."

A careless motorist across the street attracted Kunds' attention.

"Come on George," he called and started across the street.

George was right behind—he seemed as proud of his master as his master was of him.

MARRY YOUNG SAYS RECTOR IN ADVICE TO AVOID DIVORCE

Boston, Sept. 25.—Marry young! This is the advice of Rev. George J. Prescott, rector of the Church of Good Shepherd, South End, who has tied the marriage knot for 800 couples during his fifty years as pastor of the church. Rev. Prescott retires from active church duties today to his personal attention to other activities.

He has seen them come and go, Rev. Prescott says, married them and buried them as well and after all those years he stands pat on the marriage issue as a permanent institution.

Dr. Prescott has the longest ministerial record of any clergyman in Massachusetts.

He advises young folks to marry at an early age, but with the added idea that the uphill struggle be mutual if it is to be a correct union.

"The apartment houses is the solution to the problem," he continued. "What with expenses as they are, the inability to have a city house looms blazingly on the horizon. Young folks can't afford it. The small apartment the box-like flat, the intimacy of tiny living quarters gives more promise to life and adds many millions to the population."

"Nothing wrong with marriage," the rector says. "I've been married twice so you see how I stand on it. The individuals who make up the game are at fault. They pull away instead of together."

Dr. Prescott said that adjustment is to marriage what steam heating is to an apartment. Not really necessary but terribly comfortable.

Before coming to the Church of Good Shepherd, truly a "little church around the corner," in 1874, he was an assistant preacher at Grace Church Lawrence. He is chaplain at the McLean Hospital, where he spends much of his time.

PREDICTS WEATHER WILL BE VARIABLE

Shelby, O., Sept. 28.—"October will be pleasant and dry; November will be partly cold while December will be marked by variable weather the first half and cold the latter half. There will be many marked weather changes this fall."

This was the weather prediction made here by Dr. J. Schilling, based on the direction of the winds the first three days of autumn.

"The first day the wind was southwest, west, northwest and southeast," said Dr. Schilling. "The next day it was northeast, north, and northwest, and the third day, southeast, east, northeast and south."

RELEASE PIGEONS HERE SUNDAY FOR RACE TO PITTSBURGH

More than 3,000 racing pigeons sent to Xenia in sixty crates, were liberated early Sunday morning at the office of the American Railway Express Company at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in a return flight against time to Pittsburgh.

The pigeons are the property of six sporting clubs in Pittsburgh that sponsor similar pigeon races every year from different distances.

The pigeon race Sunday was the second to be made from Xenia within two weeks. One week ago nearly 6,000 pigeons were freed in a race to Pittsburgh.

L. J. Klein, of Pittsburgh, official referee employed by the Pittsburgh Sporting organizations, had charge of the liberation Sunday.

The first pigeon returning to Pittsburgh in the shortest time is considered the winner. The birds make the trip on an average of from five to six hours, displaying an average speed of thirty-five miles an hour. Each pigeon is identified by numbers.

TOY BALLOON MAKES RECORD FLIGHT AND LANDS NEAR LONDON

London, Ohio, Sept. 28.—What is believed to be a world's record flight for a toy balloon has been established here with the recovery by a Madison County farmer of a balloon sent up by the Fir Drug Company of Shelton, Washington.

While John Swaney, farmer of near Sedalia, was working in his garden, he was surprised and startled when a toy balloon, suddenly dropped out of the sky almost at his feet. He picked it up and found on the side the words "The Fir Drug Company, Shelton, Washington."

The balloon was brought to London and shown E. A. Gorry of the J. R. Atchison Drug Co. After investigating, Mr. Gorry reported that the Caldwell Syrup of Pepsin Manufacturing Company of Monticello, Illinois, had shipped several hundred toy balloons to the Shelton, Wash., firm to be used for advertising purposes.

Shelton, Washington, is in Mason County, Wash., about 30 miles from Tacoma. It is 2,200 miles in an airline from Madison County, Ohio.
